

THE GUNS OF ROBERT E. PETERSEN

by MARK CHESNUT, EDITOR

THE NATION'S LARGEST display of Gatling guns and fine double rifles. A renowned collection of high-end double-barrel shotguns. Historical arms once owned by the likes of John F. Kennedy, Annie Oakley, Robert Stack, Julian Hatcher, Hermann Goering and Elmer Keith. Firearm curiosa and oddities. And famous makers such as Boss, Holland and Holland, Purdey, Fabbri, Galazan, Westley Richards, Parker, Browning and Rizzini.

All of these are represented in one of the finest firearm collections ever assembled, that of late publishing titan Robert E. Petersen.

Come and learn more about Petersen's collection, which resides at the National Firearms Museum at NRA Headquarters in Fairfax, Va., for all to see and cherish. "This gallery will stand forever for the legacy and generosity of the Petersens," NRA President Ron Schmeits said at the opening of this lauded new exhibit. "Future generations will learn about the importance of firearms and freedom by experiencing the Robert E. Petersen Gallery."
